TOM J. GERRAGHTY, City Editor. MYRON R. GREEN, Associate City Editor

RUSHVILLE, INDIANA, AUGUST 7, 1907.

The "bad boy" in Rushville should be summarily dealt with in a firm manner. No threats and procrastinations should be indulged in, but prompt and sure punishment should be meted out, in order to stop this rowdiness among the small boys.

It is estimated that about one sixth of the oil produced in this country comes from the wells of the Standard Oil Company and its affiliated concerns and that in no one of the great fields does it produce more than half the total. It refines practically 80 per cent of the total, however, and here is where the effects of the monopoly is first felt. Then there is the transportation question. Assuming that the railroads cease to discriminate in its favor, its system of pipe lines gives it an enormous advantage.

The "Bandit Gang," an organization of bad boys in the west end is an acknowledged fact, and it seems to be well known in that part of the city. For this reason there should be no excuse for the city authorities to fail in breaking up this gang. This should be done at once, summarily and without in the least showing any leniency in order that an example be established. If a real sentence is imposed on some of the boys, instead of threats made, they will soon realize that they must behave themselves, or if the parents have to pay heavy fines once or twice, they will look after their boys in the future.

A Democratic exchange says that the slogan of the next campaign will be "equal rights to all, special privileges to none." This would be a very fair sounding slogan, but it would not be new. It is as old as politics. It has been a special favorite of the Democratic party for a good many years, but there are two things that stand in the way of making it effective so far as votes for the party are concerned. One is that under the administration of the party the people would be no nearer this condition than before, and another is that however attractive the campaign slogan may be, yet what the average voter wants to know more than all else is how he is going to get something to eat.

It has been mentioned as a self evident proposition, that if the $29,000,000 fine shall be collected from the Standard Oil company, it will reap itself by advancing prices. The secretary of the National Petroleum association says there has been an average increase of 10 per cent this month, and that it may go to 25 per cent by the end of the year. He seems to think the trust will collect the fine before the courts have finally decided that it must be paid. One can hardly imagine that the Standard Oil people would dare to provoke the wrath of a nation by doing this, but as the case stands, it has the power to do it. The department of justice has suggested a remedy. It is that if a combine be proved to exist in violation of "the act to protect trade and commerce against unlawful restraints and monopolies," its properties shall be put in the hands of receivers, to be sold by them. It is assumed that the different plants would be bought by others than their old owners, and the reign of competition would be restored. The fact that the Standard Oil company can, if it pleases, collect from the people the fines which the people, through their courts, may impose on it, shows how little has been done thus far to deal adequately with monopolies. Society is organized for self-protection and will not submit to injury at the hands of its corporate creatures, however great they may be.

Private Banks May Take Advantage of Public Depositories Law.

Indianapolis, Aug. 7.—In order that private banks may become public depositories under the new law that will take effect December 1, after which all interest on public funds will be paid into the public treasuries, Auditor of State Billheimer today mailed them a letter informing them that they may be examined by his department before then by paying the regular fee. Under a law enacted last winter the private banks do not have to submit to state supervision until after Dec. 1. The public depositories law, however, provides that no bank can obtain public funds unless it has been examined and approved by the state auditor. Many private bankers are expected to take advantage of the state auditor's offer as they have indicated that they want to establish public depositories.

Governor Haule is preparing to wage political warfare against Goodwine of Warren.

for the Republican nomination for governor. It is declared by some of the governor's most intimate friends to be a fact that he has informed them in no uncertain terms that he will never stand for the selection of Senator Goodwine as the standard bearer of his party. The governor's attitude towards his former fellow townsman bids fair to create a sensation among politicians as soon as it becomes known. From absolutely reliable sources it was learned today that the governor has intimated pretty clearly that if Senator Goodwine is nominated for governor he will take the stump against him and make a campaign, if necessary, from one end of the state to the other. Some of the frightened friends of candidates for state office who have heard of the governor's pronouncement hurried to him for a denial only to be met, it is said, with a sharp retort that every word of it was true and that so far as he is concerned Senator Goodwine will not receive his support at the polls.

A demurrer in the case of the Louisville, New Albany & Corydon Railroad company vs. Attorney-General Bingham and Prosecuting Attorney Ewing of English to prohibit them from enforcing the two-cent fare law against the complainant has been filed in the federal court by the defendants. The latter declare that the complainant's allegation that the two-cent fare law is unconstitutional because it is a usurpation of judicial functions is untenable as the courts have held repeatedly that the legislature may fix the rates to be charged by public service corporations. The defendants also allege that the enforcement of the law will not result in the taking of the company's property without due process. The company operates a short line from Corydon junction on the Southern to Corydon and the entire value of its property is said to be less than $200,000.

The annual mid-summer meeting of the Republican State Editorial Association will be held at White City, Friday, Aug. 30. No business will be transacted this time. The editors and their families expect to arrange an old-fashioned basket dinner picnic in the grove and to spend the rest of the day boating and enjoying the attractions on the board walk. It will not be a political gathering in any sense, but it is probable that many of the party leaders will get as near the scene of the festivities as possible.

Wants Big Convention.

Louisville, Aug. 7.—In opening a vigorous campaign to secure the next Democratic national convention for Louisville, Governor J. C. W. Beckham, United States Senators James B. McCreary and Thomas H. Paynter, Mayor Robert W. Bingham of Louisville, and all the members of Kentucky's delegation in the lower house of congress, both Democratic and Republican, have united in a joint letter to the members of the Democratic national committee, inviting and requesting them to hold the next national gathering in this city.

Then They Apologized.

San Francisco, Aug. 7.—Attorney Hiram W. Johnson of the prosecution in the Halsey trial, and Attorney Schlessinger of the defense, during the examination of a juror called each other rogues and indulged in a one minute fist fight. After the combatants had been separated both apologized to the court. Mr. Johnson was fined $25 by Judge Dwyer, who held that Johnson had called Schlessinger a rogue first and thereby had started the fight.

Little Change in Situation.

Denver, Col., Aug. 7.—There is little change in the strike situation on the Colorado & Southern. Each side to the controversy is awaiting the result of the correspondence now going on between the company and the leaders of the men and the federal officers who have sought to end the trouble by mediation.

An Interesting Ruling.

Goshen, Ind., Aug. 7.—The county commissioners have dismissed the petition of a saloonist for a license to sell intoxicants at New Paris, because he published his application in a newspaper in the county not of general circulation at New Paris.

Dangerous Place to Sleep.

North Manchester, Ind., Aug. 7.—Charles Derf, thirty-two years old, while asleep, fell from a window to the cement sidewalk, receiving injuries of which he died.

INDIANA DEMOCRACY HAS TROUBLES OF ITS OWN

[Special Correspondence.]

Indianapolis, Ind., August 7.—While the newspaper bureau controlled by Tom Taggart, chairman of the Democratic national committee, and Crawford Fairbanks, the Terre Haute brewer, sit trying to sow seeds of discord among the Republican hosts in Indiana, it is becoming more and more apparent that the Democracy is living in a glass house and is in no position to throw stones. In other words it has troubles of its own which it is trying to conceal by painting a false picture of the Republican party.

Taggart and Crawford Fairbanks are making a grand effort to chloroform their own party into the belief that all is well and that they ought to be continued at the head of it so they can manipulate it to suit themselves as they did during the recent session of the legislature when the Democratic members made an organized fight against all reform and moral measures.

Taggart is making a very clever effort to rehabilitate himself with the entire party before the fire works begin next year. As is generally known he is a pastmaster in pulling the wool over the eyes of his opponents and getting what he wants for himself.

The indications are now that the same forces that have controlled the Democratic party in Indiana for several years will do so again in the next campaign, and like the burned child that dreads the fire the decent law-abiding element will know better than to trust them. However, that element will have nothing whatever to say in the management of the Democratic party next year and the progress and reforms as usual will have to be accomplished by and through the Republican party.

Bryan is "Knocked."

The "gold bug" members of the Democratic party in Indiana evidently will have nothing to do with Bryan and Bryanism and the "peerless one" and his followers who expect to sweep Indiana next year will find that they are up against it.

Jim Keach, one of the leaders of the Democracy here, who is fighting Taggart and his machine, made the following caustic comment about Bryan: "The gold Democrats generally," continued Mr. Keach, "can be relied upon to help beat Bryan, either in or out of the Democratic party. I expect, of course, the politicians, because they will vote for anybody in order to retain their political home. Many of the gold Democrats had about concluded that they were mistaken in Bryan and that he was good enough to be president when he upset the pitcher of milk by declaring for government ownership.

"Personally I attribute an ulterior motive to Mr. Bryan. That ulterior motive is his determination to advertise himself and his paper at the expense of the Democratic party, and he has done this until he has grown wealthy. I think he would rather continue to advertise his paper and continue to grow wealthy than to be president. I think Bryan is an excellent man to tear down anything that could be built up. I never saw any indication of him trying to build up anything. I never knew him to accomplish anything, and he has been the most valuable asset the Republican party has had in my time. He even expressed his complete satisfaction in being the tail for Roosevelt's kite and in advancing the thought for some of the most radical things that Roosevelt has carried out."

Silver Republicans Sore.

This kind of talk from men of prominence like Keach is causing the Bryan radicals all kind of pangs. But worse still, the so-called silver Republicans who were numerous in 1896 and 1900, have gone back on him. Flavius J. Van Vorhis, the leading silver Republican of Indiana, and ex-chairman of their state committee, said:

"There is no other man in American political life who fills me with so much disgust as Mr. Bryan. There were 2,000,000 independent voters who supported Bryan in 1896 and 1900. They will not vote for him in 1908, and since he could not be elected without them, how can he hope to be elected without them? He has not only alienated them from his by his abandonment of the silver issue, but they have a grievance against him and will fight him to the last ditch. Many of them left the Republican party to cast their political fortunes with him. It is no small thing to break away from one's party allegiance, but they had faith that Bryan would continue the fight for free coinage as long, if necessary, as there was life in him. He broke faith with them by abandoning the money question and they will even the score in the election next year."

At this pathetic juncture the Hon. John W. Kern, twice a candidate for governor, and one of the Taggart-Bryan leaders, has come to the fore with the cold statement that no Republican could carry a precinct in Indiana against Bryan.

He may be right, but the fact that the Taggart-Fairbanks machine has taken up Bryan's cause, and that the gold Democrats and the so-called silver Republicans are against the erstwhile "boy orator," has not tended to create harmony within the Democratic party. The Hearst men are getting a lot of satisfaction out of the situation and are whetting their knives to take a few scalps.

NOT A CRIME WAVE

Superintendent of S. P. C. C. Talks of the Present Situation in New York.

A MATTER OF STATISTICS

Assaults Upon Young Girls Show No Relative Increase For the Season Over Past Years.

New York So Thoroughly Aroused That Several Lynchings Have Been Narrowly Averted.

New York, Aug. 7.—More of what have come to be seriously known as police headquarters as "near" crimes against girls have been followed by nearer lynchings. Out of the score of complaints that reached the police, a half dozen demanded serious attention. Whether the number is extraordinary is disputed, but certain it is that never before has mob vengeance so frequently attended attacks upon children.

"There is not any crime wave," said Supt. Jenkins of the Society for the Prevention of Cruelty to Children. "I mean by that that our statistics show no increase in the number of actual assaults committed upon girls under sixteen years. At this season of the year there is always a relative increase in the number of assaults and attempted assaults upon girls under sixteen. They have not, however, increased relatively to the increase of population. They are about the same number to date, this month and last as there was in July and August, 1906."

Led by a woman who alternately in Italian and broken English, cried, "avenge my daughter," a reckless crowd of perhaps 2,000 last night stormed the Fourteenth street car barns of the Metropolitan Street Railway company, where a policeman had sought refuge with a seriously pummeled prisoner, Paul Sorgerato, a Greek peddler thirty years of age, who had made the mistake, so it is charged, of kissing Grace Goscoe, an Italian of eleven years. A shrill cry from the girl and an impassioned appeal by the mother put the foreigners of the neighborhood in a rage. As the Greek took to his heels, a crowd pursued. He was overtaken and kicked nearly senseless. By this time some one had snatched a clothes line from the window of a grocery store and the rioters attempted to put a noose over the offender's head. Only the over eagerness of each rioter to have a hand in the lassoing saved the peddler's neck. During the confusion a policeman arrived and clubbed his way to the endangered man and dragged him to nearby car barns. Police reserves stood off the mob while the Greek was hustled into a patrol wagon. Through a crowd that cried "kill him; lynch him," the police fought their way to the nearest station house. Sorgerato was in bad shape. His eyes were blackened, his nose broken, scalp torn, face lacerated and his body black with bruises.

Edward Pratt, a millwright, forty years old, had a somewhat similar experience late in the afternoon in West Fifty-seventh street. Nellie and Helen Farrell, each about ten years old, accused Pratt of improper remarks. He was frightfully mauled before rescued by the police.

Adelela Wilderer fought off an assailant on the west side. The man was arrested. A man who attempted an assault upon a little girl in Greene street escaped. Tony Sardo was arrested on a child complaint in Brooklyn.

The courts are acting promptly on assault cases. P. J. Schmidt, a blacksmith, charged with having attempted to attack a little girl, was sentenced to the penitentiary for one year. Antonio Levant, for a similar offense, was given six months.

Second Victim of Ohio Fiend.

Wadsworth, O., Aug. 7.—Anna Kiel, twenty-seven years old, daughter of a prominent farmer living near here, was attacked while on her way to a street car line by an unknown man and, after being terribly bruised and cut, was tied to a tree where she was found several hours later by a passer-by. The condition of the young woman is critical. She was unable to give a coherent account of the assault. Several hours after she was found, an unknown tramp was captured and brought to Wadsworth.

Narrow Escape for Passengers.

Dallas, Tex., Aug. 7.—The "Cannonball" train on the Texas & Pacific railroad, east-bound, went into the ditch four miles east of this city. The mail car jumped the track and was dragged one thousand yards before the train was stopped. All the cars left the track except the diner, sleeper and engine. No one was killed though several were injured. All of the derailed cars were crowded with passengers. It is considered miraculous that none was killed.

Eleven Buildings Destroyed.

Axtel, Neb., Aug. 7.—Fire which started in a restaurant nearly wiped out the business buildings on the main street of the town. Eleven buildings with their contents were destroyed, involving a loss roughly estimated at $60,000.

CITIZENS ARMED Villagers Organize to Put Down Rioting Italian Laborers.

Murphysboro, Ill., Aug. 7.—Word was received here late yesterday afternoon from Fordyce, a village ten miles west of here, that a gang of rioting Italians had control of the town. Sheriff Hanson and a posse at once started from here. Sheriff Hanson suppressed the rioting Italians and made seventeen arrests. The Italians were employed as laborers by the Iron Mountain road. They demanded the dismissal of Foreman Robert House and upon refusal of Roadmaster Carey to accede to their demands they set upon House and Carey. Soon the fighting became general and the village was terrorized.

Mayor Crain and almost the entire population armed themselves with revolvers, shot guns and rifles and by threatening to shoot stayed the mob. Seventeen of the gang were arrested and brought here last night. The others escaped to the woods. No one was injured by the rioters, but the villagers are much incensed against the Italians.

Wheat prices at Chicago declined more than a cent because of increasing local receipts, and favorable weather in the northwest.

Duven Brothers of London have purchased for $5,000,000 the famous collection of pictures and art treasures of the late Rudolph Kann, the Paris financier.

In a collision of a passenger train and a freight, one mile east of Auburn (N. C.) the engineer and fireman of the freight, and the fireman of the passenger engine were killed.

Both the Review and the Herald at Decatur, Ill., have suspended temporarily as a result of a strike of the printers who say they are going to print a daily paper of their own.

GIRL—Wanted at the Republican office. One that is bright and industrious.

In Memoriam.

An unwelcome guest crossed the threshold of a happy home and took from it the spirit of a loved one, Thomas Johnson.

He had been in poor health for some months but was not known to be incurable until a few days before his death and then he was not known to be seriously sick.

He was the son of Benjamin (deceased) and Statia Alexander Johnson, born August 31, 1862, in Rush county, where he died July 18th, 1907.

He is one who will be missed, not only by his family, but by friends and neighbors.

He was a successful business man, honest in his dealings, a good neighbor, always ready and willing to accommodate. He loved his home and took great pride in making it pleasant and attractive. He had as pretty a country home as was in this county.

On July 19th, 1887, he was married to Kate Spencer. To this union was born four children. One by the reaper, Death gathered them home, leaving him alone.

What a life of loneliness and sacrifice he lived no one knew but himself and his Maker. On July 30th, 1902, he again united in marriage. Rebecca E. Dora, of Glenwood, became his wife. In her he found a helpmate as well as a true and loving companion.

"His heart shed its early leaves, To give her all the rest."

He was a member of the M. E. church at Manilla.

The funeral services were conducted at the home, July 21st, by the pastor, Rev. Beck, and the I. O. O. F. lodge of Arlington. Burial at the Arlington cemetery.

He leaves a lonely heart-broken wife, mother, three brothers and six sisters and a large circle of friends.

The large funeral was a demonstration of the esteem in which he was held.

PLUNGED INTO DITCH

Fast Express Train Derailed by Collision With Runaway Gondola.

Pittsburg, Aug. 7.—Three persons were killed and twenty-two injured in a railroad wreck on the Buffalo and Allegheny division of the Pennsylvania railroad at Kelly, about thirty-five miles from this city. An express train while passing through Kelly was side-swiped by a gondola coal car and the engine, tender, baggage and express cars with the three day coaches were derailed.

The dead: Mrs. Alonzo Huff and male infant of Johnstown, Pa.; M. B. Irwin of Oakmont, Pa., engineer of the passenger train.

The gondola car was loaded with coal and had broken away from a train and rolled down over a switch extending over onto the main track. The passenger train, running at about sixty miles an hour, came around a curve and before the speed could be reduced had struck the gondola. The engine was thrown about thirty feet from the track and landed on its side. The tender was likewise turned over and the cars broken and battered were strewn along the track on their sides. Most of the injured were in the second day coach. The majority of these were cut by glass and received bruises in the tumbling over of the cars.

Warsaw, Ind., Aug. 7.—The disappearance of Sherman Wallick, thirty-five years old, leads to the belief that he was cremated in the burning of the barn, near Claypool, owned by Bruce Whitlberger, his employer.

Couldn't Endure Losses.

Naples, Aug. 7.—Mr. and Mrs. Buckingham, who came from New York, committed suicide by taking poison at Castellamare. The reason for the act was that they had sustained serious gambling losses at Montecarlo.

BIG CATTLE SHOWS

Prizes Offered at the Coming Indiana State Fair Amount to $12,397.

SHORTHORNS AND HEREFORDS

Both of These Especially Well Provided for in Rich Premiums—Shows and Parades in the New $110,000 Pavilion—$400 in Prizes for Milking Contest.

Cattle shows will be one of the dominating features at the Indiana State Fair, which opens on September 9 for five full days. With a spacious and well appointed pavilion at its disposal, the fair management will go in stronger for live stock exhibitions than in any former year. Both the cattle and horse shows will take place in the big arena of the pavilion, around which are 5,000 comfortable seats for spectators. The total prize awards to be made in the cattle classes amount to $12,397, a material increase over what has been offered before.

One of the features of the cattle shows will be the parades, and in the class exhibitions a large number of the animals will be shorthorns, for the premiums for them are especially rich, amounting to $2,746. The State Board of Agriculture offers prizes on shorthorns amounting to $376; the American Breeders' Association gives $750; prizes in the milking contest reach $400, and the Indiana Association of Shorthorn Breeders adds $920 to the prizes.

The Herefords will in number not be far behind the shorthorns, for the premiums will amount to $2,500. The State Board gives $1,132; the American association, $300; the Indiana association, $1,057, and a silver cup values at $50 will also be awarded. Another class in which premiums in liberal sum are offered is that of the Aberdeen Angus, the total amount being $2,436. The state board gives $1,673; the American association, $200, and the contests that are open only to Indiana breeders carry prizes of $563. The prizes for polled Durhams amount to $1,310; Galloways, $531; red polled, $532. There will also be a contest for the championship of all the beef cattle classes.

The Indiana Fair has few attractions that are of more interest to the women from the farms than that of dairy cattle. The Jerseys, Holsteins, Friesians, Ayrshires, Guernseys and Brown Swiss have been provided for by the State Board of Agriculture, which offers $438 in each of these classes, and the Indiana Jersey Cattle Club offered $35 in special prizes in the Jersey contests. The dairy cattle department at the coming fair will be in the charge of Clem Graves of Bunker Hill.

The dairy building is another center of interest to the Hoosier farm women for there they not only see the best products of creameries and home dairies, but also obtain a great quantity of information on the making of butter and cheese. Mr. Graves will also have charge of the dairy building, with Prof. O. F. Hunziker of Purdue University as an assistant. Over $200 in prizes will be distributed among the butter makers. The cold storage of the dairy building will be ready to receive exhibits on September 2, and all must arrive by September 7. There will be a large exhibit of dairy utensils and machinery from factories and supply houses. The Purdue School of Agriculture will have a working dairy in operation. The building will be headquarters for the members of the Indiana State Dairy Association and, if practical, the instructors from Purdue will give short talks on the requirements of a perfect dairy cow.

At the fair last year the contest for milking shorthorns received so much attention that it will be repeated at the coming fair. The $400 in prizes will be paid by the State Board of Agriculture and the American Shorthorn Breeders' Association. On the first morning of the contest, all the cows are to be milked in the presence of the judge in the ring. The milk will be weighed, and this will be repeated morning and evening for three consecutive days. The older cows must produce from fifteen to twenty pounds of milk at each milking and the younger from eleven to fourteen pounds. The object of the contest is to show the adaptation of the shorthorn to both beef and milk production.

In all of the cattle and dairy contests, the best herds of Indiana and several other states will be represented. The rivalry is especially sharp among the Shorthorn and Hereford breeders to make the best showing at the State Fair, and it is their faith in these classes that has caused the two state associations of breeders to contribute liberally to the prizes. At the fair last year, Walter Hadley and Allie Brown, two well-known Indiana breeders, offered a silver cup for the best pair of Herefords under two years old. The cup must be won twice by a breeder before it becomes his property.

The Red Polled Cattle Club of America, through H. A. Martin, secretary, of Gotham, Wis., offers for the first time money awards in this class at the Indiana Fair. In every class of beef and dairy cattle, the State Board holds strictly to the rule that all animals exhibited must be registered in a herd book. It is this requirement which keeps the cattle shows at a high standard.

BACK GIVES OUT

Plenty of Rushville Readers Have This Experience.

You tax the kidneys—overwork them—They can't keep up the continual strain.

The back gives out—it aches and pains; Urinary troubles set in.

Don't wait longer—take Doan's Kidney Pills.

Rushville people tell you how they act.

Mrs. William Trennepoll, 1016 W. First Street, Rushville, Ind., says:

"Though I did not take Doan's Kidney Pills regularly, yet they did me a great deal of good and relieved me of a nagging pain across the loins that robbed my life of comfort, rendered my nights sleepless and caused languor and weariness to depress me. Before my husband got Doan's Kidney Pills for me at F. B. Johnson & Company's drug store, I could not lie on my back on account of extreme pain. I do not have backache now and the lameness is rapidly going away. Doan's Kidney Pills have given me great relief and I do not hesitate to recommend them to others similarly afflicted."

Temperance Movement in Indiana Has Not Been Without Effect

RESULT OF A YEAR'S WORK

These Figures Show a Total of 750 "Dry" Townships With Many "Dry" City Wards

South Bend, Ind., Aug. 7.—The Rev. E. S. Shumaker of this city, superintendent-elect of the Indiana Anti-Saloon League, has compiled statistics, showing a total of 710 dry townships in Indiana, with a total population of 1,041,335; fifty-three wards, with a population of 193,250, and twenty-four districts, with a population of 94,800, making the totals 787 for the dry townships, wards and districts, and the total population represented 1,234,375, after deducting 15,000 for overlapping territory. Mr. Shumaker figures that 338 townships are dry without any known remonstrance and they have a total population of 387,642; that sixty-two townships, with a population of 98,156, were made dry by remonstrances under the Nicholson law, and that 310 townships, the population of which is 575,527, were made dry by remonstrances under the Moore law.

In the cities, Mr. Shumaker's statistics credits the Nicholson law with five dry wards with a population of 9,700, and the Moore law with twenty-five wards having a population of 62,950. Without any known remonstrances, twenty-three wards having a population of 39,606 are dry. In addition, twenty-four districts with a population of 94,800 were made dry through action of city councils. Since May 1, 1905, 904 saloons were either closed or prevented from operating, after deducting thirty-eight from the totals for places that were twice remonstrated against. Of this number 797 were closed by township remonstrance, ninety by city ward and fifty-five to residence district remonstrances. Mr. Shumaker figures there are only 306 wet townships in the state.

TO PROTECT VETERANS

Old Soldiers Will Be Guarded Against Extortion.

Indianapolis, Aug. 7.—William A. Ketcham of this city, department commander of the G. A. R. of Indiana, has been appointed a member of a committee to see that the veterans who attend the national encampment at Saratoga Springs, N. Y., get what they are entitled to in the way of accommodations and rates.

When it was decided to hold the national encampment at Saratoga Springs, the Business Men's Association of that city entered into an agreement with the G. A. R. authorities binding Saratoga citizens not to raise prices for hotel accommodations and board while the veterans were in the city. Recently there arose a fear that overcharges might be made in spite of this agreement, and Commander-in-Chief R. B. Brown appointed a committee to see that contract was lived up to by the Saratoga people. A general order on this subject has just been issued by the national commander.

Didn't Carry Safety Lamps.
Sullivan, Ind., Aug. 7.—Frank Delashmutt, a well-known business man of Shelby, who was appointed receiver for the mine owned by the A. H. Whitsett Coal company of that place by Judge Anderson, last week, was killed by an explosion in the mine. Delashmutt, in company with George Anderson, pit boss, went into the mine for the purpose of inspection. They did not have safety appliances on the lamps which they were carrying and the accumulated gas exploded. Anderson was fatally injured.

Indiana Republican Editors.
Indianapolis, Aug. 7.—At a meeting of the executive committee of the Indiana Republican Editorial association, held at the Claypool hotel last evening, it was decided to hold the fifth annual basket picnic of the association at White City, Indianapolis, on Friday, Aug. 30. Plans are in hand to make this coming mid-summer outing the most entertaining of any thus far held. An invitation is extended to all Republican editors in the state.

Sixty-first Birthday Surprise

About three months ago James Higgins, of West Third street, while conversing with his family in regard to birthday surprise parties, remarked that "you couldn't fool me." The remark was soon forgotten by the husband, but kept afresh in memory's storehouse of the wife and daughters, and in a short time invitations were sent to a number of relatives and friends in different parts of the country, to be present at "Uncle Jim's" residence on Sunday, August 4th, 1907, to assist in a birthday surprise.

At 9:30 o'clock in the morning the first to arrive were Mr. and Mrs. John W. Lewis, of near Andersonville, who came presumably to make them an ordinary visit. They found the uncle enjoying a quiet nap, from which he was soon aroused and invited to go down town with Mr. Lewis to put a horse in a feed stable, after which Mr. Lewis suggested that they look around awhile before returning to the house. He succeeded in keeping him away until 11:30 o'clock, giving ample time for the crowd to assemble and secret themselves. On his return he was asked to be seated in the sitting room, when suddenly the visitors began to file into the room similar to bees in a hive. He was not stung as by bees, but he was visibly affected, as shown by the moisture in his eyes.

After a hearty hand shake, all the guests repaired to the dining room, where the table fairly groaned under the burden of choice viands, prepared for the occasion, and in a short time to say that the participants did not have the right of way, would be misrepresentation.

The evening was spent in an old-fashioned social chat and everybody talked to father, and he sat around with a gladdened heart and appeared to be twenty years younger, although he had completed the sixty-first cycle of time. An exceedingly good time was enjoyed by all present, and all joined in wishing that Mr. Higgins may see the return of many more birthday anniversaries.

G. W. H.

The Vaudeette has a pleasing program for tonight. The first is a colored film and will show Spanish dances. The next is a drama entitled "Genevieve of Brabant." It is a story of the Crusades, when the Duke of Brabant goes to the holy war, and leaves his young wife behind. And because she would refuse to become the sweetheart of Golo, who had charge of the castle, she was banished to the forests, where a doe kept mother and child alive for seven years, when the husband returned.

The rate for the excursion to Chicago Aug. 17 is reduced to $2.35 round trip. dit

Can You Eat Everything?

Some people cannot eat cabbage, tomatoes, onions, berries or cheese without suffering afterwards, this is very annoying and makes one ask the question

What Are Vegetables for If I Cannot Eat Them?

All vegetables are intended to eat and if we cannot, indigestion is the cause, the cause should be stopped at once. We are able to stop it and will guarantee our Dyspepsia Tablets to enable you to eat any of the things that you are now forced to pass by.
